In such cases, however, the contribution payable in respect of such appointments should be paid in the first instance and then got refunded from the Audit Office by sending a bill, for the amount due, showing the period from and to which the appointment was substantively kept vacant and furnishing a certificate that the contribution payable on the pay of such appointments also has been credited to the treasury for the period in question. The revised procedure takes effect from 17th January 1939.
